

May 25th is European Thyroid Day

Thyroid disease affects millions of people across Europe. If you've received treatment for thyroid cancer or another thyroid condition, you could help by raising awareness on European Thyroid Day.

Talk to friends, relatives or your local community about your experiences, and help other people to look out for symptoms. It all helps strengthen the fight against thyroid disease.